Social media helps us stay connected to our friends, family, and colleagues. Online safety is an ongoing conversation among all of us to help minimize the use of social media for harmful purposes. That is why I have teamed up with Facebook, Carlsbad Unified School District, law enforcement, and other leaders to create this event…Senator Pat Bates.

For a

Facebook Online Safety Seminar
This presentation provides a thorough description of the tools available to members of the Facebook community to report inappropriate content, harassment, and other forms of cyber bullying. Social media is a growing method of communication, so our goal is to allow teens and parents to be active participants while empowering them with the tools to stay safe online.

Followed by a panel discussion
“Are Parents Responsible for What Their Children Post Online?”
San Diego District Attorney’s Office
Carlsbad Unified School District Superintendent Suzette Lovely
